FAMOUS BETSY STOPE

Important Developments in the Great Tintic Producer - More Utah Stocks to be Listed at Boston-

One of the most important strikes that has developed in several months was reported from the offices of the Mammoth Mining company late yes-

About 4 o'clock President McIntyre received word by telephone that the drift on the 1,900 level had encountered ore, at a distance of about 140 feet north of the main shaft.

Almost simultaneously another dis-closure of equal importance was made on the 800 level, where a vein, a contin-uation of the famous Betsy and Cun-ningham stopes, was cut into with another drift from the 800 level After receiving the message from the mine, President McIntyre did not take

During the past year or more some of the richest ore from the Mammoth mine was extracted from the 1,800 level, where the vein proved to be close to 100 feet in width. The gold values there were exceedingly good, and soon after the control of the great property passed into the hands of the present president dent, he directed a continuation of the shaft, which was then at the 1,800 level, another 100 feet, where he could drift to the vein and gain new ground for toping purposes.

When the Mammoth was involved in Nitigation with the Grand Central last year, the injunction order of the court prevented Mr. McIntyre from extracting any ore from the vein continuing from the Betsy and Cunningham stopes, where it passed through the ground in-cluded in the surface side lines of the Grand Central group, but Mr. McIntyre was not going to be shut out, and the vein was reached with the 800 drift and thirty feet below, where the territory in dispute with the Grand Central be-certainly a big one, as was demonstrated on the upper levels.

The release of the new ore reserves gives the Mammoth the opportunity to equal its past record of production; and it would not be surprising to see other stopes yield as well as the Betsy and Cunningham, which produced over $1,-000,000 aplace.

The news of the important disclosures reached the brokers on Second South street before they had all closed their offices for the day, and just before 6 o'clock as much as $2.35 was bid for the

He will re-main here only a couple of days to confer v. th the Salt Lake contingent, when he will return to Seattle and devote the balance of the intervening time in preparing to leave for the northern dig-gings about the 20th of May. Scattle, Mr. Fletcher said yesterday, is all excitement. The city is filled with people going to Nome. Already several boats have sailed, but the bulk of the crowd will not leave until about the 10th or 20th of May, when there will be no danger of encountering ice on the voyage. Reports from the north state that the ice in the Yukon river has that the ice in the Yukon river has broken about a month earlier than usual this year, and the early boats may reach their destination in safety, but Mr. Fletcher believes the trip would be hazardous if undertaken much work and after inspecting the Louise S. company's property and laying plans for work, a new proposition to which Mr.

Seattle merchants are reaping a har-vest from the Alaska business, and the transportation companies are sure to make more money within the next few months than they did during the entire period of the Klondike travel. Mamager Carter has arranged to leave for Seattle in about ten days, and the balance of the Salt Lake contingent will follow him a few days before the sailing date. Mr. Fletcher says before the sailing date. Mr. Fletcher says between 20,000 and 40,000 people will leave for the gold fields within the next thirty days. He is very enthusiastic over the possibilities of Cape None, and feels positive that all those who went into the Alaska syndicate organized here will come out next fall with a lot of gold dust.

THE VALEO MINE.

Its Peculiarities Described By Manager Kearns.

Not a few Salt Lakers are interested in the future of the Valeo property at Park City, and many of them have been on the anxious seat lately as to what would develop in the lower tun-nel, which has been driven over 1,200 feet into the company's possessions with the purpose of cutting the ore body at greater depth. A couple of weeks since Manager Kearns said another sixty feet should take them into ore, and in case it was not caught in that distance a raise would likely be that distance, a raise would likely be started to catch it. When questioned on the subject yes-

When questioned on the subject yes-terday, Mr. Kearns gave out the im-pression (though he did not say so in that many words) that the ore had not been encountered in the turnel, as expected, and stated that sinking in the ore from the upper tunnel level was now being prosecuted with the purpose of following it down to the new tunnel

The Valeo," said he, "is a rather peculiar proposition. Unlike other mines in the Park, the ore does not make in a regularly defined vein on fissure. Developments go to show that it consists of a large chimney or pipe, the course of which can be likened more to the course of a worm hole in a rotten log than anything I can think of. The ore is continuous from the surface down and there is lots of it. Regular shipments are now being made, and I have reason to believe that it will go down, but its twisting and turning leaves us at sea as to where to catch it in virgin

From Mr. Kearns' statement it would appear that the large amount of drifting, which it is believed has been done on the upper tunnel level, has not disclosed other chutes than the one which has beeen followed down from the surface, and it also leaves the inference that no well-defined ledge has as yet been found in the property.

THE COPPER MARKET.

London Speculation Dying Out-Arizona to Increase Output.

A Wednesday's New York special to the Boston News Bureau had the following on the copper market:

"The market is quiet, but firm, at about 171/4 in lake brands, and 17 for the electrolytically refined quality. Buy-ers are noticeably active, although some of the foreign concerns are re-ported to be coming into the market again.
"Reported small sales at the London

hange indicate the dying out of culative interest at that center, and it begins to look as if speculation in copper will soon be as dead in London as it is in New York. "Domestic mills are busy and working smoothly. "The copper producers' figures of output for March are the largest since December, and exports for that month are by far the largest on record. The Arizona district is preparing to increase output, where two ne recently been arranged for,"
